

Since the 1990s HP's handprint has been all over the occupied Palestinian territories, providing technologies, infrastructure and equipment used in maintaining Israel's illegal occupation. Even though the Hewlett Packard Company became defunct in 2015 its remnants formed 3 separate companies – HP Inc, Hewlett Packard Enterprise and DXC Technology, with each maintaining some involvement in the Israeli occupation and profiting from and sustaining its apartheid system, in violation of International law.

Information listed is what is currently available due to the lack of public disclosure by HP's successors in relation to the current status of contracts with Israel. Attempts have been made by Investigate to obtain information directly from HP Inc. and HP Enterprise, but with no response. Investigate note that these 2 companies have publicly stated they work closely together in purchasing, bidding on contracts and sharing supply chains. HP Enterprise has publicly stated it will "maintain a strong relationship with DXC Technologies, with agreements in place to support current customers."¹

We call on Hewlett Packard companies -- including HP Inc., Hewlett Packard Enterprise, and all spin-offs -- to end all participation in the brutal oppression of the Palestinian people and other targeted communities worldwide. We pledge not to purchase products -- including printers, computers, and ink -- from complicit HP companies, and we call on retailers, universities, schools, faith communities, investment funds, municipalities, governments, trade unions, and other institutions to boycott and divest from HP companies until they cancel all contracts that supply Israel with technology, equipment, and information used in its ongoing violations of Palestinian rights and international law.

Israelis and Palestinians are required to carry ID cards containing this information which is used to discriminate against Palestinians. HPC produced biometric ID cards for Israeli citizens, including Palestinians living in Israel, Israeli Settlers and Palestinian residents of occupied East Jerusalem. These contracts were transferred to HP Enterprise (HPE). DXC Technology currently holds the contracts. • Maintained the Basel System, a biometric control system used to identify Palestinians through facial recognition and hand scanners to control their movements through Israeli military checkpoints in the occupied Palestinian territories. This was passed on to HP Enterprise but was scrapped in 2016 when the Israel military designed their own. • Administered IT infrastructure, initially a project of the Israeli Navy, that was extended to 'virtualize' all the military.
